Holl. Geo. Banckoff, WM. C. Bryant, esq., and others.

Gentlemen: I am very much honored by the highly compilmentary call which you have made upon me to lecture before the people of New York, and in gratefully complying with your wishes, I am far from insensible of the danger which it involves to myself, in being passed upon by so intelligent and critical a tribunal. My hesitation lessens, however, when I reflect that you invite me to speak of my native region; in respect to which,
I trust, I shall be able to disabuse the public of the North of many mistaken impressions which do us wrong. You will, I doubt not, be pleased if I shall succeed in this, since it is always grateful to the just and magnanimous nature to witness the ultimate ascendency of Truth. I propose, then, as my sujects:
"South Carolinas in the Revolution," a single lecture—"Marion,
the Carolina Partisan," two lectures—or, "The Apalschiaus," two lectures, which is somewhat Idylic, and undertakes a hirds-eye view of the scenery and habits of the South. Three lectures of this course will be delivered, the choice depending upon jourselves.

SIMMS'S LECTURES ON SOUTH CAROLINA.—The Young Men's Lecture Association of the City of New-York, have the honor to almonace that W. GLMORE SIMMS.

One of the most reliable books on Ramas yet published, having been writen on the spot by the wife of Gov. Robinson, and giving as correct an idea of the country, and of public and social affairs there, as any work of the kind can.

The very origin of this book suggests the heroic days of Puritan suffering and devotion. The narrative is one of suriling interest, and will command universal attention."

We have slready read a great part of the volume with an interest accompanied with torture. Uncle Tom's Cabin is really a feeble bock, compared with this, in power of strings and singing the sensibilities."

The events of which it treats are a part of our current history; the public cannot afford to semain in ignorance of the great drams of the age. We welcome this book as the testimony of an honest witness, living in the vicinity where the occurrences happened which she relates, part of which she was estand in, and all of which she way.

The very mand of the authores is a guaranty for the book. Written upon a section of the country, the every-day accounts of which he are painfully interesting—it is a book which demands, and should receive our every attention."

Volume Third Just Ready.
WHALING AND FISHING. By Charles Nordhoff, suthor of "Man-of-War Life," "The Merchant Vessel," &c. 1 vol., 12mo., 289 pages, llustrated. 78c.
"Since Dana's Two Years Before the Mast, we do not call to mind any more admirable descriptions of a sailor's life at sea than are con ained in these graphic volumes. Herman Melville's rautical narratives are more highly spiced with piquant descriptive scenes, it is true, but for quiet, absorbing and as far as a landsman can judge, faithful accounts of life ou shipboard, dommend us to this author. He somewhat resembles Capt. Baul Hall in his lively pictures of the routine of sea service, but it is not so rambling nor so flippant as that celebrated 'old sait."

THE NORTH and the SOUTH.—A Statistical THE NORTH and the SOUTH.—A Statistical View of the Condition of the FREE and SLAVE STATES. By Henry Casse and Charles W. Sanborn. Compiled from Official Documents. Itmo, bound in cloth. Price 50 cents. If any one wishes to know what Slavery has done for the South, and Freedom for the North, let them read this masterly work. Let him study these figures. Place a copy of these statistics in the hands of every voter, and one word for it, Republicanism will sweep the entire North in 1866 as clean as it has rever New-England in 1856. Men of the South, we beg you to leok calmly and dispassionately at this array of figures, and see what they portend.

The able editor of The Evening Transcript, Boston, speaks thus of this work:

"This little book contains a vast amount of information respecting the comparative condition of the Slaveholding and non-haveholding States—as to territory, population, industry, wealth, education, intelligence, religiou, moral advancement and general procress. The work must have cost a great deal of largency procress. The work must have cost a great deal of largency procress. The work must have cost a great deal of largency procress. The work must have cost a great deal of largency procress. The work must have cost a great deal of largency in correct and the certainty presents advancement and general procress.
